

Season 4 Episode 2

Through a Portal Dastardly

Captain Fusion is granted access into a highly secured prison for special criminals. A prison guard walks Captain Fusion down the hallways of the prison where they see all sorts of demented criminals locked up behind bars. The prison guard said, "This is where we keep special criminals that are guilty of crimes that are so bizarre and extreme that a regular prison does not do justice for them." Captain Fusion walks past one cell and then he walks past another cell and stops because he sees Jason locked in the cell. Captain Fusion walks to the bars and he said, "Jason?" Jason goes to the bars and he said, "Captain Fusion." The prison guard takes out a shock stick and aims it at Jason. Captain Fusion said, "There must be some grand mistake. Jason is not a bizarre criminal. Why would he be here?" The guard said, "Jason is quite notorious. He built a whole operation to send things from the future into the past to benefit himself and to profit off technology that doesn't exist yet." Captain Fusion said, "How long has Jason been here for?" The guard said, "About five to seven... I don't remember. He's been here for years. I recommend staying away from him as you have no idea what he's capable of." Captain Fusion said, "I will take my chances with him. I've known Jason for years. I know he is not a criminal." Captain Fusion is let into Jason's cell and they sit at a table. Captain Fusion said, "How did this happen?" Jason said, "Where do I begin..."

Mason is in the lab working on a highly advanced and sophisticated tower computer decked with silver and black rims while Jason is in front of the lab TV with his GameStation set up. Jason looks through a stack of GameStation game discs and Jason said, "Played it. Played it. I haven't played this one in a while." Jason digs out a demo disc for the GameStation and he puts it in his GameStation and he looks at demos. Jason finds a demo for a shooter type game and he plays it. Purple sparks are emitted everywhere from the game as Jason blasts away at the enemy fighters. Jason's hair gets blown back and he is thrown behind the couch from the awesomeness of the game. Jason said, "This game is friggin' awesome. Why have I never got this game?" Mason gives Jason a stern look as he continues working on the computer. Jason goes to a computer in his bedroom and he goes to eBay.com. Jason types the name of the game into the search and it comes up with a few pages of relevant results. Jason said, "It seems that only seven people all over the world are selling this particular game and it seems to be on sale for as low as... $1199 USD. That's bullcrap. Surely there must be a way to get this game for a cheaper price." Jason travels around various game stores in San Francisco and he shows the owners a printed picture of the game Jason wants and they all laugh at him. Jason goes all over the city looking for the game and he cannot find a single copy. Jason walks down a city street and Jason said, "Not a single copy in one of the most diverse and populated cities in the world. This sucks." Jason walks past a park and he kicks a stone and it hits a portal between two trees in the park. A purple spark ignites from a space in between the two trees revealing the portal. Jason said, "What is this? This looks like the purple spark from my game." Jason walks into the space behind the two trees and he slips into a slipstream and he appears in the exact same space.

Jason looks around and he sees he is in San Francisco and the city looks the same as it always has. Jason said, "What happened?" Jason walks down the street and he walks past a familiar game store that is heavily advertising the first GameStation. Jason said, "Jimbo's Games? Didn't that place close three years ago? Why are they advertising for a game system that came out more than five years ago?" Jason looks at the ad poster and he sees the game he wants is in the poster. Jason goes into the store and Jason said, "This is so nostalgic. It is like I am walking back in time." Jason looks behind glass display cases that have original GameStation games in long boxes. Jason said, "They even have the original long boxes. Those are becoming rare." Jason finds a stack of the game he wants for only $40. Jason said, "It is the game I want for $40." Jason grabs the game and he buys it with cash out of his wallet. Jason said, "It is an honor doing business with you again." The owner looks at the cash Jason gave him and it has text on it that reads, "Issue 2000." The owner said, "2000? Does he mean the year 2000? That is five years away."

Jason skips down the street and he said, "I got the game. I got the game." Jason runs into the lab and he said, "Now, where is my GameStation?" Jason sees his GameStation is nowhere to be found and he sees a Seka Nemesis in its place. Jason said, "Seka Nemesis? I haven't played on this in years." Jason digs through the living room and his bedroom and Jason said, "My GameStation is gone. It must have been stolen." Jason goes back to Mason's lab and Mason is working on a tower computer with a beige complexion. Jason said, "Mason. Do you know what happened to my GameStation?" Mason said, "You don't have a GameStation. You've been talking about buying one for weeks now." Jason said, "I don't have a GameStation? This is insane this is... What's that you're working on?" Mason said, "It is a tower desktop computer that was built by me. I am building it for a contest where anyone can build inventions and enter them. Watch this in action." Jason said, "That doesn't look like the computer you were working on earlier." Mason said, "Well, this is the only tower computer I am currently working on." Mason boots up the computer and it displays a black screen of only green text. Mason types some commands into the computer. Mason said, "This thing can solve complex equations." Mason types some more and the computer said, "The convergence of π is Theta decimal eight." Mason said, "That's correct." Jason said, "What's the point of this contest?" Mason said, "To test out building skills and to build things that could make a difference in the world of technology." Jason said, "What's the prize?" Mason said, "The prize is $10000." Jason's eyes turn to dollar signs and he said, "I could use some of that." Mason said, "I highly doubt you could build anything worthy of being in the contest. This computer also accesses the internet." Jason said, "Can it tell me what the current date and time is?" Mason said, "That's an elementary task for this computer." Mason types commands into the computer and the computer screen reads, "It is Tuesday, October, 24 1995." Jason said, "Okay." Jason discreetly leaves Mason's lab as Mason gets back to work. Jason said, "That portal I walked through must have brought me back to 1995. That would explain why I don't have a GameStation yet and why I got this game for a cheap price."

Jason goes back to the park and he walks back into the slipstream and he is sent back to the same place. Jason said, "This better bring me back to my time." Jason goes home and he goes to Mason's lab and he sees Mason is working on a silver and black sophisticated tower computer and Jason's GameStation is hooked up to a TV and his GameStation games are lying around. Jason places the game he bought into the system and he plays it. Jason sits in front of the TV for hours and Mason said, "My new masterpiece of a computer is finished." Mason looks at his watch. Mason said, "Look at the time. I better head off to bed." Mason goes off to bed while Jason is engulfed in his game.

Jason gets off his game and he checks his watch and he sees it is 1 AM. Jason said, "I have been up for hours playing this game." Jason sees Mason's new computer hooked up to a screen with a keyboard and a mouse. Jason looks at the computer and he said, "This is like the computer Mason was building in 1995. Only this computer looks much cooler and trendier and I bet it performs better than bygone Mason's computer." Jason turns on the computer and he sees the Looking Glass NX splash screen. Jason goes through the features of this computer. Jason said, "This computer has games, music, videos, it even says it plays DVDs. I don't know how to test that but I take Mason's word for it. This computer really does pack a powerful punch. I have an idea." Jason gets an idea of taking this computer back to 1995 and entering it in the contest and winning big over Mason. Jason then gets a lot of money and fame. Jason said, "Cool." Jason unhooks Mason's computer and he puts it in a wheelbarrow and takes it to the park into the slipstream.

The contest is held at a convention center where Mason sets up his beige tower computer and Keith walks past it. Keith said, "You really think that's going to win? The computers the cash registers use at Tangent are more powerful than that hunk of junk." Mason said, "Why don't you make something better then?" Keith said, "I have. Behold, my Molecular Food Replicator.” Keith shows his new machine and it has tubes on a large box filled with switches. Keith grabs some small pills and he places them in a machine and he turns a crank and presses some buttons and out one of the tubes is a tray with a MacDougal’s burger, fries, and a drink and it even comes in MacDougal’s packaging. Keith said, “World hunger is solved.” Jason walks into the convention center with the wheelbarrow with the highly advanced computer on it.

Judges look at Mason’s computer and Mason said, “This computer of mine can calculate complex equation formulas as well as give information from the internet.” The judges give stern looks at the computer and one of the judges said, “Can it do anything more?” Mason said, “Well, this computer is intended for scientific purposes.” The judges don’t look thrilled and they write off Mason. They go to Jason and Jason said, “Behold, the new computer for the new millennium.” Jason presents the computer to the judges by demonstrating its graphical powers and its entertainment capabilities. The judges look thrilled. One of the judges said, “Now this is what I want in a computer.” Another judge said, “This computer is so futuristic. It looks like something out of a sci-fi movie.” Another judge said, “Looking Glass NX? What is looking Glass NX? It looks like Looking Glass 94 but it seems far superior. How could something so advanced be made by this kid?” Jason said, “I know what people like in computers unlike my twin.” Keith (off in the distance) gives the computer a stern look and Keith said, “How did Jason get a computer that is so high tech? Jason is a fool that never knows anything. He must have stolen it from the future. I wonder if he knows about that time portal I helped build in the park. Well, I was told to report any incident like this.” Keith takes out a brick cellphone and he calls someone on it.

FBI agents bash into the convention center and they aim their weapons at everyone and they knock down tables. Keith points to Jason and his computer. The FBI stand over Jason and the lead agent said, “Where did you get this computer from?” Jason said, “I built it myself.” The FBI agent grabs onto Jason’s shirt and pulls him up to him. The FBI agent said, “You’re a liar. You stole it from the future. You are coming with us and so is your computer.” Jason is handcuffed and placed in the back of an FBI truck. The FBI bring Jason and his computer to a hidden FBI base in a hill in the park. A mad FBI scientist looks over the computer and he said, “This is the pinnacle of what computing should be. Have my team reverse engineer this computer. I know how to dominate the industry.” The mad FBI scientist stands over Jason tied to a chair. The mad FBI scientist said, “So, you must have found my portal.” Jason said, “I don’t know what you are talking about.” The FBI mad scientist slaps Jason on the side of the head and he said, “Don’t play stupid with me. I know your deal. You are going to the new top secret FBI prison where you will stay there for the rest of your days. No one is supposed to know about my plan to bring things from the future to the past.” Jason is locked up in a secret FBI prison.

Jason is in a cell at a table with Captain Fusion and Jason said, "That's pretty much how it happened. I have been here ever since." Captain Fusion said, "This is awful. We need to put an end to this corrupt FBI agent that stole Mason's computer and locked you in this prison. I have an idea. You stay here. We will get you out of here." Captain Fusion and Mason are in Captain Fusion's lair. Mason said, "Jason stole my computer and brought it into the past which caused him to get arrested in FBI prison where he is still there to this day?" Captain Fusion said, "It is difficult to wrap your mind around it but that is the case. I have a plan to save Jason and your computer and to end this injustice." Captain Fusion brings Mason to his time machine matrix. Captain Fusion said, "I have set a timer in the machine to bring us back after a day in our time. We have twenty-four hours to find Jason and save your computer and end the injustice." Captain Fusion and Mason connect the head connectors of the Fusion Time Machine Matrix to their heads and red liquids flow in lava lamps. Captain Fusion sets the machine for 1995. Mason appears at the convention in front of his beige tower computer. The judges look over it and they say, "Meh." The judges go for Jason's computer. Mason said, "My computer. This is convenient." Mason grabs out his cellphone and he calls Captain Fusion. Mason said, "Captain Fusion, I am at the convention center. I have my eyes on Jason and my computer." Captain Fusion said, "Good. Do whatever you can to stall them for as long as possible." Mason goes up to Jason with judges hovering around them. Mason said, "Jason. You stole my computer." Jason said, "This isn't your computer." Mason said, "It is. It has my unique ID tag on the bottom of it." Mason picks up the computer and he turns it upside down and it reads, "Property of Mason." Mason said, "This is my computer and he's a thief." One of the judges said, "I don't care. It is still an overly awesome computer that is way more advanced than that piece of crap you made." The other judge said, "If this computer really is better than that other computer you made, then why did you submit the crappy computer and not this one?" Mason said, "This computer is not finished yet and it is likely to explode in your faces." Mason spots Keith off in the far distance and Keith takes out a cellphone and he is about to call someone. Mason said, "Could Keith have been..."

Mason jumps out from the crowd of judges and he grabs onto Keith's cellphone and gets into a tug of war with Keith. Keith said, "Back off. I am the rightful winner of this contest and it is neither you or your dumb twin." Mason said, "You don't understand. That computer was stolen from me. It is not supposed to see the light of day." Keith said, "I knew it was your computer. That's why this needs to get reported." Mason said, "No! Don't!" Keith presses the buttons on his cellphone and he speaks into the cellphone, "A high tech device is spotted at the San Francisco convention center. It is from the future. Jason found the time portal." Keith gives a grin to Mason. The FBI barges into the convention center and they arm their guns at everyone and they knock over tables. The FBI aim their guns at Jason and they stand in front of him. Mason jumps in front of Jason and he said, "He's not the one you want. I'm the one you want. I built the computer. I got Jason to enter the contest so I can have a second chance at winning.” One of the judges said, “Mason. You cheated.” The FBI agent said, “That’s okay. You are both coming with us now.” The FBI grabs onto the computer and they drag Jason and Mason out of the convention center. At the front of the convention center, Captain Fusion arrives in the Fusion Mobile and he sees Jason and Mason being dragged out of the place. Mason yells, “Captain Fusion. They got both of us and my computer!” Jason and Mason are thrown into the back of the FBI truck and it drives away. Captain Fusion drives the Fusion Mobile behind the FBI truck.

Captain Fusion drives down the streets and the FBI truck drives into the park and it drives into an opening in a hill. Captain Fusion speeds into the opening and he activates a cloaking device on the Fusion Mobile. The door closes on Captain Fusion’s Fusion Mobile crushing and cutting it in half. Captain Fusion jumps out and slides down the small gap in the door and he makes it inside the lair.

The FBI mad scientist stands over Jason and Mason tied to chairs. The FBI mad scientist said, “So you twins think you can use my portal to steal my technology from the future and bring it back into the past? I am the only one allowed to do that since it is my portal and I am better than you.” Captain Fusion runs up a set of stairs and ends up on a catwalk. Captain Fusion finds a control room and he jumps in the control room. FBI agents in heavy armor and plasma guns arm their weapons at Captain Fusion. Captain Fusion runs past them and he smacks two of them down. One of the FBI agents keeps blasting at Captain Fusion. Captain Fusion dodges the blasts and they hit the control panel. A screen reads, “Portal Destabilized.” The FBI mad scientist gets a call on his communicator and he said, “What is it?” The FBI agent said, “Captain Fusion is here and he destroyed the controls to the portal. Your portal will destabilize in ten minutes if nothing is done.” The FBI mad scientist crushes his phone and he smacks Jason and Mason on the sides of their heads. FBI mad scientist said, “You fools. Look at what you’ve done. My portal is going to destabilize and it is all your fault. You brought Captain Fusion here.” Captain Fusion said, “Actually, I brought myself here.” FBI mad scientist turns around and Captain Fusion is there. Captain Fusion grabs onto FBI mad scientist and pins him to the wall. Captain Fusion said, “You will give Mason his computer back and let them go.” FBI mad scientist presses a red button on his shirt and a suit of armor forms on him. He uses blasters in his fingers to send blasts at Captain Fusion. Captain Fusion takes out a blade and he cuts the ropes on Jason and Mason freeing them. Captain Fusion said, “Mason, find your computer and make sure Jason gets into the portal. You have less than nine minutes now.” Captain Fusion goes to fight the FBI mad scientist while Jason and Mason run off.

Jason and Mason run up exposed metal stairs and they enter a thin corridor with a large window revealing a round enclosure where Mason’s computer is connected to machines and FBI personnel are studying it. Jason taps the glass and he said, “How are we going to get in? There is no way we can smash this window.” Mason said, “We’ll see about that.” Mason takes out a remote and presses a button on it and his robot mech is spawned from his lab and it smashes through walls. Mason jumps in the mech and he smashes through the window. The FBI personnel arm their weapons at Mason. Mason smacks them down in one swift swing of the mech’s arms. Jason and Mason go to disconnect Mason’s computer from all the wires. Keith jumps in the fray with a far superior mech than Mason’s. Keith said, “Thanks to the portal giving us technology from the future, I have been able to upgrade my mech so it is far better than yours.” Mason attempts to fight Keith and Keith gets Mason’s mech in a headlock. Captain Fusion is smashed through a wall and the FBI mad scientist enters. Keith and the FBI mad scientist stand over Jason, Mason, and Captain Fusion. FBI mad scientist grabs onto Captain Fusion’s leg and holds Captain Fusion upside down. Keith elbows Mason’s mech and he smashes it some more and he holds Mason’s mech upside down by its leg. Jason sees there is one cable still connected to Mason’s computer. Jason unplugs it and he throws it at the head of Keith and Keith flinches back. Mason swings his mech’s arms into Keith’s legs and Keith falls over. Mason picks up his computer and he uses it as a weapons to smash Keith’s mech. FBI mad scientist walks over to Mason and Mason throws the computer into the FBI mad scientist and he loses his grip on Captain Fusion. Captain Fusion smacks the FBI mad scientist in the head and grabs onto him and throws him into the wall. Mason is standing on top of Keith’s mech and Mason said, “Let’s get out of here.” Jason and Captain Fusion jump into Mason’s mech and they smash out of the base.

Jason, Mason, and Captain Fusion run to the portal that is fluctuating. Jason has the computer in his grip. Mason opens the cockpit and Jason jumps out and runs for the portal. Jason is about to step into the portal and FBI mad scientist grabs onto Jason’s foot and raises him by it. The FBI mad scientist said, “I might consider reducing your prison time if you let me have that computer now.” Mason controls his mech to jump at FBI mad scientist and Keith’s mech jumps out of nowhere and jumps on Mason’s mech crushing it and breaking it. Mason and Captain Fusion are ejected from the mech and they are left sitting on the grass with the portal being blocked by Keith and FBI mad scientist. FBI mad scientist said, “You have no other options. Give me the computer.” Jason has it tight in his grip. Mason nudges Jason and Jason hands Mason the computer. Mason said, “You can have this computer.” Mason presses down on the corners of the computer and the outside shell is removed revealing all the circuitry on the inside. Mason hands it to Captain Fusion and Mason said, “Do the honors.” Captain Fusion said, “With pleasure.” Captain Fusion reaches inside the computer and he crushes and breaks all the components with his fists. Captain Fusion pours all the dust of broken computer circuits down into the grass in front of FBI mad scientist. The portal violently fluctuates and it starts to send sparks. One of the sparks hits Keith’s mech and it malfunctions. Mason said, “Forget about my computer. Go back to the present.” Jason runs into the portal and FBI mad scientist runs in after Jason. Jason jumps into the slipstream and makes it through while FBI mad scientist has half of his body go through the portal and the portal dissolves while the bottom half of his body is left in the past. It closes cutting FBI mad scientist in half.

Jason appears back in present day and the top half of FBI mad scientist's dead body is in the park with Jason. Jason shrugs this off and walks out of the park. Jason goes back to Mason's lab where he plays more of that rare shooter game he bought from the past earlier.